

Muiz is a passionate software engineer specializing in backend development. His journey into coding started with a curiosity about how software works, which has since grown into a deep passion for problem-solving and innovation.

As a freelancer, Muiz has successfully completed numerous projects, consistently delivering high-quality software solutions. His unique blend of technical expertise and creative thinking makes him adept at tackling complex challenges and crafting efficient, elegant solutions.

Outside of coding, Muiz is an avid gamer, particularly enjoying multiplayer and strategy games, which sharpen his strategic thinking. He also finds inspiration in neo-soul and RnB music. In his downtime, he enjoys taking walks while listening to his favorite tunes.

Now, as a mentor at this bootcamp, Muiz is excited to share his knowledge and experience with aspiring software engineers, helping them turn their tech dreams into reality.